Long before now, everyone in the organic and conventional growing communities, has become thoroughly familiar with Round Up Ready Alfalfa (RRA) and the USDA's recent unregulated release of it into the market place and the environment. Perhaps consumers are not quite as familiar, but here's not only your chance to learn more but to also protect yourself and your family.

There have been countless outcries against Monsanto, and it has been Monsanto's name in virtually every print and web article as well as radio and TV show. But if Monsanto is the devil as many would say, then there has been little if any mention of those doing the devil's bidding. Forage Genetics International (FGI) is a wholly (or rather 'unholy') owned subsidiary of the trusted household brand name Land O'Lakes (LOL). While Monsanto owns the patented RoundUp Ready (RR) gene, FGI is the developer of RR Alfalfa and licenses the patents to do so from Monsanto. Why is the release of this particular GMO important? Perhaps one of the most significant points in this case is that genetically engineered (GE) alfalfa is the first perennial GMO and alfalfa covers 21 million acres of cropland in the US. GMO Alfalfa can cross breed with wild alfalfa and provide a rogue GE gene pool and the probability that eventually all alfalfa will become contaminated within a few years. Because the root systems of alfalfa can be 10-15 feet deep, the genetic pollution will be delivered along with it, making it difficult or impossible to irradiate. Alfalfa is also considered 'insectary' due to the large number of insects it attracts, including the failing bee population, which will accelerate genetic contamination. This means a serious challenge to producing organic alfalfa, vital for organic dairy, and pastured meats and poultry and eggs. Non-GMO conventional growers will be equally impacted and in many cases lose their markets. It also means a substantially increased environmental human exposure to the herbicide RoundUp, not only a known endocrine disrupter but also responsible for increased birth defects and cancers and significantly increased rates of spontaneous abortions in livestock.

Plant pathologist Don Huber, PhD, professor emeritus of Purdue University, says the repercussions of introducing Roundup Ready technology to another crop, like alfalfa, could be disastrous. "If indications hold true, we're set up for the greatest disaster that this country or the world has ever seen, that will dwarf any major famine or drought that has ever been recorded," says Huber.

GMO Alfalfa is just the first release, it was quickly followed by sugar beets and ethanol corn which will be followed by many more genetically engineered plants and animals if we do not push back now.

Consumers can make their voices and dollars heard protesting this profound assault on human, animal and planetary health. We are calling for an immediate, nationwide and prolonged boycott of the Land O'Lakes brands & licensees. Contact information below, let them know what you think about their grand little experiment on mankind.

Obama can stop this right now, contact the White House soon and often. Comment Line: 202.456.1111, if busy use the main switchboard 202.456.1414, Email: <http://www.whitehouse.gov/contact>.

Please demand immediate state wide moratoriums. Find your governor, and demand an immediate moratorium and transparent food labeling.

Put pressure on your Assembly, Congresspeople and Senators to support a statewide moratorium on recently approved GMO crops and to hold the White House accountable to you, their constituents. The support for biotech is bi-partisan. Do you know where your representatives stand? If this is going to effect the way you will be voting, let them know that.
